

Greg Corio, to speak Tuesday, November 6th, at 7 PM, in CAOS 1013

Greg Corio was the former Executive Director for Student Recreation and Outdoor Education at WVU and a 1999 graduate from the Adventuresports Management program at Garrett. Greg developed several programs for WVU including the largest Outdoor Orientation program in the country and the WVU Outdoor Education Center. Greg also invented an artificial ice climbing wall while at Garrett.

Greg's love for the outdoors is evident as he takes his family along with him to give them the same experiences.

Greg has recently been promoted to the Special Assistant to the President of WVU focusing on Strategic Outreach Initiatives.
